If you selected "other," please explain.	We plan to return on November 30th, but also know that many families travel and see family during the holidays. Do you feel comfortable about having your child return to in-person instruction between November 30th and December 18th?	Many families have requested the morning cohort. While we will not be able to accommodate requests, we would like to know if some prefer the afternoon cohort as we may be able to accommodate those requests. Do you prefer the afternoon cohort? If you selected "other," please explain.	We plan to return on November 30th, but also know that many families travel and see family during the holidays. Do you feel comfortable about having your child return to in-person instruction between November 30th and December 18th?	Many families have requested the morning cohort. While we will not be able to accommodate requests, we would like to know if some prefer the afternoon cohort as we may be able to accommodate those requests. Do you prefer the afternoon cohort?	My child knows how to properly wear a mask.

If you selected "other," please explain.	We plan to return on November 30th, but also know that many families travel and see family during the holidays. Do you feel comfortable about having your child return to in-person instruction between November 30th and December 18th?	Many families have requested the morning cohort. While we will not be able to accommodate requests, we would like to know if some prefer the afternoon cohort as we may be able to accommodate those requests. Do you prefer the afternoon cohort? If you selected "other," please explain.	We plan to return on November 30th, but also know that many families travel and see family during the holidays. Do you feel comfortable about having your child return to in-person instruction between November 30th and December 18th?	Many families have requested the morning cohort. While we will not be able to accommodate requests, we would like to know if some prefer the afternoon cohort as we may be able to accommodate those requests. Do you prefer the afternoon cohort?	My child knows how to properly wear a mask.

If you selected "other," please explain.	We plan to return on November 30th, but also know that many families travel and see family during the holidays. Do you feel comfortable about having your child return to in-person instruction between November 30th and December 18th?	Many families have requested the morning cohort. While we will not be able to accommodate requests, we would like to know if some prefer the afternoon cohort as we may be able to accommodate those requests. Do you prefer the afternoon cohort?	My child knows how to properly wear a mask.

My child will benefit from more social/emotional interaction, My child could benefit from face-to-face instruction as opposed to distance learning Other The biggest priority for my daughter is her MENTAL HEALTH. Because she has no family in the area and we are attempting to follow the social bubble rules put forth by HHS, since March, my 8 year old has battled with depression off and on, declared she no longer wants to be alive or she wants to be dead, and had tantrums and breakdowns on a daily basis. I have to work very hard to just keep her in a place of some kind of mental normalcy. Her pediatrician said that as long as reasonable protections are put into place (masks, hand washing) and HHS has deemed it safe (which they have at this point), it is recommended for my daughter to return to school ASAP given the profound degree the isolation and limited child interaction has made on my daughter. My daughter's pediatrician said they are seeing this same trend everywhere, especially in the elementary age levels. Although I have set up playdates for my child, given the limits of the social bubble rules, losing one playdate in the week can set my daughter back into sadness and tantrums in a way that never existed before. The recommendation by Dr. Willis HHS was to NOT set up pods because that made contact tracing difficult and was actually more dangerous than having set cohorts in school where conditions were more controlled. I don't know any pod that is using masks inside or any of the protections the school is requesting. The needs of people with pods, with or without private teachers, should not be part of the consideration of returning to school. The idea that school opening may be further delayed due to family vacation scheduling is infuriating. Please put the mental health and academic needs of the child ahead of vacations. Although both my daughter and I are considered high risk individuals, I did NOT check that box because despite us qualifying given our autoimmune diseases. It is MORE risky to my daughter's health and well being to NOT being in school. We feel VERY comfortable sending our daughter back to in person school and are willing to support the school in any way to make that happen.		Comfortable

If you selected "other," please explain.	We plan to return on November 30th, but also know that many families travel and see family during the holidays. Do you feel comfortable about having your child return to in-person instruction between November 30th and December 18th?	Many families have requested the morning cohort. While we will not be able to accommodate requests, we would like to know if some prefer the afternoon cohort as we may be able to accommodate those requests. Do you prefer the afternoon cohort? If you selected "other," please explain.	We plan to return on November 30th, but also know that many families travel and see family during the holidays. Do you feel comfortable about having your child return to in-person instruction between November 30th and December 18th?	Many families have requested the morning cohort. While we will not be able to accommodate requests, we would like to know if some prefer the afternoon cohort as we may be able to accommodate those requests. Do you prefer the afternoon cohort? If you selected "other," please explain.	We plan to return on November 30th, but also know that many families travel and see family during the holidays. Do you feel comfortable about having your child return to in-person instruction between November 30th and December 18th?	Many families have requested the morning cohort. While we will not be able to accommodate requests, we would like to know if some prefer the afternoon cohort as we may be able to accommodate those requests. Do you prefer the afternoon cohort?	My child knows how to properly wear a mask.
